By signing this document the authors of the above mentioned manuscript agree to transfer exclusive publishing and distributing rights of the above mentioned work to Lexi Sofia without any precondition.

By signing this document authors of the work also agree to the following stipulations:

- Authors retain the copyright of their work. They may reuse their work for academic purposes provided LEXI SOFIA is duly acknowledged by citing the year, volume and page numbers of the version published in the journal. Authors may also share PDF of published version with individual scholars or may post it in their personal or institutional websites. However, mass distribution or any commercial (for profit) usage of articles either in print or electronic form mandates prior permission of LEXI SOFIA editorial board.
- LEXI SOFIA reserves the right to publish the work in any form or medium including print and electronic (online or offline) in such quantities as deemed essential for distribution of the article around the globe. LEXI SOFIA also reserves the right to republish, translate or reprint the articles as and when required without any timeframe. However LEXI SOFIA shall not alter any content of the article without prior permission of the authors.
- LEXI SOFIA shall not pay any royalty for the first-time publication of the work or limited reprint of the article.
- The authors warrant that the work is an original contribution and they have full control over the original data. The authors also warrant that this work has neither been published elsewhere nor been submitted simultaneously to another journal irrespective of the language of publication or geographic territory of the publisher.
- The authors of the present work warrant that the work contains no material that would infringe the copyright or intellectual property rights of another author or publisher. Plagiarism will be viewed very seriously and when detected appropriate disciplinary action will be taken.
- The article shall not contain any material that contravenes any law including but not limited by law of defamation and contempt of court.

- The article should contain or reflect data and photographs that are genuine. Deliberate manipulation of data or photographs will be viewed seriously and editor reserves the right to take appropriate action.
- Authors agree to fully indemnify LEXI SOFIA and its editor in respect of all costs, liabilities, damages and expenses of whatsoever nature incurred by publishing the article.
- In suspected scientific misconduct LEXI SOFIA reserves the right to inspect original raw data or other materials deemed necessary to establish facts. In suspected or proven scientific misconduct editor of LEXI SOFIA reserves the right to take any action
- Authors reserve their right to withdraw their manuscript at any stage before final acceptance.
- Authors shall declare potential and actual conflicts of interest (both financial and non-financial) that could have directly or indirectly biased interpretation or conclusion of their work.
- Corresponding author shall act as guarantor of the article and he/she shall be responsible for any dispute that may arise by publishing the article. The corresponding author shall also represent all other coauthors in case of any dispute redressal. Although communications are usually done with the corresponding author, editor of LEXI SOFIA reserves the right to directly contact any of the coauthors in cases of suspected scientific misconduct or disputes.

I agree with the stipulations noted above and sign this document on behalf of all my co-authors
